ABOUT ME

I am a backend engineer with six years of experience, specializing in developing robust server-side applications and APIs. In my previous role as the lead engineer in different organisations and companies, I successfully managed individual projects focused on system architecture and data management, ensuring seamless integration with frontend technologies, such as React, React Native, Flutter, HTML and CSS, JavaScript and others.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Freelance Backend Developer 2024 - present

Backend Developert

- In June 2023, I developed a series of APIs to support the promotional efforts for the local food festival, which successfully attracted over 2,000 visitors from neighboring cities.

Kigali Coding Company 2020 - 2024

Lead Developer

- In February 2024, I spearheaded several backend engineering projects at Kigali Coding Company, focusing on developing robust server-side solutions utilizing Node.js, TypeScript, and Python.

PROJECTS

SurVie

- In this project i and my team developed a full mobile app both available on web and mobile devices that keeps the medical records and information of the patients.
